AUSTRALIAN SON

Review by Daryl Kirkup

The passion DOUG McINTYRE has for this wide brown land exudes through his music like beads of sweat under a Stockman's Old Akubra. Australian Son, Doug's second album is set to bring this likeable Aussie singer/songwriter even greater appreciation. This album has something for everyone with songs about early childhood memories, tributes to Aussie heroes, the fun and excitement of bush races to the simple thrill of driving down a long dusty outback road. Standout tracks include Adelaide, the story of a bus trip and childhood crush, DONALD MACKAY, the superbly written Going Home Some Day, Doug's brilliant tribute to the Aussie Diggers who slaved on the Burma Railway, Yellow Moon and Australian Son, the anthemic title track that will swell the Aussie pride in us all. Doug McIntyre writes and sings from the heart and his passion is infectious. One listen to Australian Son and you'll discover the simple pleasure of Aussie pride for yourself....it's a terrific album!
